

Practical Tourism Training

You want to know how to make your job easier, or how to do it better. You don't want to plough through pages of theory, just to know how to get the job done in the most effective and enjoyable way possible.

That's how we run The Tourism Network Training Workshops. They're practical and entertaining and use a combination of presentations, exercises and examples so you can put what you learn into practice as soon as you've done the workshop.

We're also happy to arrange tailor made courses and to offer different ways to learn. You might choose a one-to-one session, group workshop, or workbooks for completion at any time. Our e-learning options mean you or your colleagues can learn where-ever and when-ever you want. Just let us know what you need to learn or do and we'll come up with a proposal to suit.

Group workshops cost in the region of £650+ VAT for a one day workshop, including preparation, delivery and provision of hand-out and guidance notes. Half day workshops cost around £400 + VAT. Please note these prices are per group, and are therefore for up to 15 people. This means that if you organise a workshop for 15 people the cost per participant would be as little as £43 + VAT per full day training workshop and £26 + VAT for a half day workshop. These prices do not include the cost of refreshments, venue hire or travel to and from the training venue.

Have you got a problem you'd like us to help you solve? Something you'd like to do better or in a new way? or a strategy to write, but only limited time and money? Perhaps you want to find new marketing opportunities?

If you're interested in different approaches to training, you might be interested to read our tourism training case study.

We can organise an initial workshop for you, at a venue of your choice or here in our historic Old Mill, brainstorm and set some tasks. We'll then go away and work on some of the ideas while you carry out some pre-set internal activities, before meeting up to provide either a final solution to your issue or a strategy. A much quicker, and action-oriented approach that could mean you have a strategy completed within a fifth of the time and budget it would usually take.
